

A Wild Pitch Costs Giants Game at Hub

Rube Schauer Lets in the Winning Run for Braves in Eleventh.

DOUBLE PLAYS KILL NEW YORK'S CHANCES

Hank Gowdy Trouble Maker of Stallings' Outfit with His Big Bludgeon.

By Telegraph to The Tribune.

Boston, May 8.—The Giants lost a heart-breaking game to the Braves here today, for, after tying the score in the ninth, they gained a one-run lead in the eleventh, only to see the Braves make it up and score the winning run on a wild pitch by Rube Schauer.

It was Rube Schauer who gave Boston victory. New York outbatted the Braves with twelve hits to eight, but Rube Schauer was exceedingly effective in the pinch.

A line day brought out the largest crowd since the opening of the season. Rube Schauer was McGraw's first selection, and went through seven innings. He made a very good pitcher in the eighth. Rube did not allow a hit until the fifth, but in that inning and the succeeding one four hits were bunched for two runs.

Dave Robertson kept up his timely hitting. It was his single which sent home the tying run in the ninth. Hank Gowdy was the trouble maker of the Stallings outfit.

As usual the Giants scored first. It happened in the second inning. Reliable Robertson doubled to left field. Brainerd tapped to Smith, who made a wild throw, which gave the batter a lead. But Robertson on third, tried Meyer's slash a single to center, which scored Robertson and sent Brainerd to second. Marquard cut the rally short by hitting into a double play from Maranville to Egan to Schmidt.

Double plays were the affliction which confronted the Giants throughout the afternoon. In the eleven innings Boston made no less than five of the basty things and they cut into the rallies of the Giants fearfully. Maranville figured in four of the two time killings. The Giants could not achieve but one double play, which was made by Brainerd without an assistance.

In the third, with one out, Doyle singled and Loeferer into a double play from Maranville to Schmidt. Fletcher was hit to start the fourth, but a liner from the bat of Burns sped straight into the hands of Smith, and crash came another double play. The Giants prevailed in the latter half of the fifth, which was the winning which Boston chose to tie the score.

Sherwood Nottingham made good hand to center. This was the first hit of Marquard. Big Fletcher Schmidt surprised everybody one by laying down a bunt, and, better yet, he beat it out. Marquard took third. Smith forced Schmidt at second, from Fletcher to Doyle. Marquard scored on the single. Maranville lined to Brainerd, and before Smith could do anything about it the first baseman stepped on the bag and doubled him up.

Boston took lead in the sixth. Gowdy singled to right and went to second while Meyer was teasing out Hughes. Fitzpatrick sent a long fly to center and Gowdy made third after the catch. Last but not an infield hit and Gowdy scored.

The Giants wasted hits in the eighth. Brainerd singled to left, but Meyer struck out. Eddie Grant hit for Marquard and made good with a single to left. Brainerd failed to third, but Grant was tagged at second on Carter's good throw when he tried to stretch his hit.

The business of tying the score was reserved until the ninth. Doyle began the inning by hitting a line drive to Schmidt which the big first baseman

PIRATES KEEP WINNING

Capture Fourth Straight Game By Defeating Cardinals.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 8.—The Pittsburgh Pirates won their fourth straight game from the St. Louis Cardinals today by a score of 3 to 2. With the score tied in the ninth, Vioth tripled and tallied on an out, giving the home team the game. The batting of Dolan and Hinchman was a feature.

WINNER OF FIVE IN A ROW

Yale Defeats Vermont After A Hard Fight

Home Run by Milburn Turns the Tide in Favor of the Blue Nine.

WAY AND GILBERT PITCH GOOD BALL

Allow Only Four Hits Each, but Circuit Drive, with Man on First, Fatal to Latter.

By Telegraph to The Tribune.

New Haven, May 8.—The University of Vermont, which used to make baseball trouble for Yale in the days of Ray Collins and Malein, was as hard as ever to handle today. Yale won by a score of 2 to 0, but only after a duel of pitchers, in which Way had a slanting advantage over Gilbert.

Four hits were made of each, but two of Yale's drives came in one inning, while Way spread the visitors' total out over four innings.

Gilbert had a soft delivery that the Yale men could not meet squarely, but which they constantly popped into the air. He gave four bases on balls, but on three of these occasions the Yale runner was caught trying to steal second.

Le Gore was the only one who survived Mayforth's throwing to bases. The Yale shortstop stole second twice and third once.

Yale won with two out in the sixth inning. Middlebrook beat out an infield roller. Milburn had two strikes when he smashed one to left center, and by fast running beat the relay to the plate.

The visitors made a rally in the ninth. Riddle got on through Way's error. Malden sacrificed and Lindehan made a blazing infield single. The side was retired, however, when Milburn threw out Merron on a hard chance.

Milburn's fielding was spectacular throughout. He accepted seven chances, several of them difficult. Both teams fielded steadily.

Hanes aroused the stands by a brilliant one-handed catch of Gilbert's long drive in the fifth. He was just able to stab the ball with his left hand as he was running backward.

COLUMBIA NINE

HITS HARD AND BEATS FORDHAM

Blue and White Players Make 12 Safe Drives, 2 for Home Runs.

SMITH ONCE MORE A POWER IN BOX

Has One Bad Inning When Team from Bronx Scores Two Runs, but That's All.

Columbia pounded Fordham all South Field yesterday afternoon as defeated the Bronx nine by a score of 6 to 2.

The score was closer than the game, because the Blue and White hammered Walsh for twelve hits, among them being a brace of home runs, a triple and a double. Walsh stayed through the bombardment and was badly battered.

Although the crowd was slim there was plenty of excitement. Columbia had Walsh in difficulties in every inning, save the last, but did not make the most of its opportunities as the men were left stranded on the bases.

Fordham could not find George Smith, Columbia's big pitcher, for three innings, but in the fourth scored two runs on two bases on balls and two hits. The Columbia twirler was himself again when Fordham faced him the next time and he had things all his own way. It was Smith's fourth victory in ten days.

The game found Billy Lush and Andy Conkey, who together coached Columbia last spring, as the directors of the opposing teams. Lush was appointed to fill Jack Warner's shoes at Fordham yesterday morning and released the chance for a crack at Conkey and Columbia.

The game was marred in the fifth inning by a bad tumble suffered by Viviano, Fordham's right fielder, when he slipped on a couple of steps while chasing a home run drive by Smith down into the center field lawn tennis courts.

For a time it was thought his leg was broken, but later examination disclosed the real injury.

Bobby Watt, the Columbia second baseman, and Dick Carroll, the Fordham third baseman, both showed the future of their onslaughts as they made a couple of errors. Neither made any errors, but both had difficulty in connecting with the ball, and their batting averages suffered. Watt got down in five time, while Carroll was out in four trips to the plate.

Smith struck out ten men, gave two bases on balls and allowed seven hits. He worked hard in the first three frames and then loafed.

Walsh worked hard all the time, but his strike outs were limited to Smith, who fanned twice after driving out a double and a home run. Walsh also passed two men.

Walsh had no time in scoring, getting a run in the opening frame. Watt singled, went to second on Benson's sacrifice and scored when Fried rich poled triple to center.

Beck popped another home run in the third for another tally for the Blue and White, but Fordham came through and tied the score in its next effort.

Smith then hit Kelliher, but saved the day by striking out Berrigan and Walsh.

Smith discounted these two runs in Columbia's half of the fourth, when he smashed out a home run, scoring "Shady" Lane ahead of him.

Walsh counted again in the fifth, when Page drove Fordham in, and made its last run in the seventh on hits by Benson, Friedrich and Buncke.

PHILLIES GET SETBACK

at Hands of Superbas

Jack Coombs, Discarded by Connie Mack, Again Pitches Brooklyn Team to Victory.

"Send me some more of your invalids when you nursed back to health and then cast adrift," was the message bulky Robbie, manager of the Brooklyn Superbas, might have wired yesterday at dusk to Connie Mack.

The showing of Jack Coombs in winning his second straight game for the Phillies yesterday, after being discarded by Connie Mack, was a most joyous afternoon of it for some 10,000 fans. The score was 3 to 2, with the Phillies on the losing end.

The contest was in a sense one between two brands of wide out-plays, the more angular sort being dished up by Eppa Rixey and the broader type by "Come Back" Jack. Both parties faulted, but the Phillies were the better of the two. Only the batsmen could be found with Jack's was that far too frequently the drop dropped a foot or two in front of or at the side of the plate, the result being a bunt or a single. But Jack's wide out-plays, which he made on first or second or third if he fails to get all the way?

This describes just how tantalizing Coombs was. Despite his freeness with passes only one proved costly.

The Phillies looked mighty powerful in the first inning, and it seemed as though they were bent on slugging out enough runs to win. Furthermore, Coombs was acting in most unbecomingly cautious manner, once a member of the McGraw clan, patiently watched Jack's curves curve too soon or too late, and was rewarded with a complimentary to Daubert's right field.
